

Transformational Speaker | Facilitator | Executive Coach

James R. Nowlin is the CEO and founder of corporate consulting firm, EGP. He has successfully consulted for Fortune 500 corporations like GE, Xerox, Panasonic, and AT&T, in more than fifteen countries and twenty states. James draws upon years of experience navigating companies, non-profits, and colleges & universities through significant changes such as: restructurings, mergers & acquisitions, cultural realignments, and strategic planning.

The survivor of a near-death drowning accident, James speaks with authenticity and powerfully delivers motivation by sharing the secrets of purposefulness and transformation for him personally, as well as for the clients he has assisted. Whether seeking to enhance workplace happiness, increase employee sustainability and retention, or improve profitability, James will help your organization to uncover its roadmap to greater success.
